

Every day I receive a solicitous phone call from MCI asking me to switch phone service. Every day I tell them I am not interested and ask them to remove my business from their call list. And every day they just ignore me and keep on talking. This usually results in my insulting them and threatening to report them to the FCC. Today, I asked the gentleman 3 times to remove me from his call list as he is required to do by law and all 3 times he just kept on going with his pitch. This resulted in my telling him where to put his service and hanging up. Can you do anything about these people? They clearly don't care that they are not complying with the law.
